Legal Research Access Internship

Law Reform Commission

The Law Reform Commission is a statutory body established by the Law Reform Commission Act 1975. The Commission has five members - the President, the Full-time Commissioner, and three part-time Commissioners. Its role is to keep the law under independent, objective and expert review, to make recommendations for law reform and to make current law accessible for all.

The Office of the Attorney General

The Attorney General is advisor to the Government in matters of law and legal opinion and a Constitutional Officer. The Office, therefore, is the central legal service of the State, providing advice and draft legislation and supervising conduct of litigation involving the State.

The Office of the Director of Public Prosecutions

The Office of the Director of Public Prosecutions was established by the Prosecution of Offences Act 1974. Its mission is to provide a Prosecution Service that is independent, fair and effective. The Director is independent in the performance of her functions. The Director enforces the criminal law in the courts on behalf of the People of Ireland; directs and supervises public prosecutions on indictment in the courts; and gives general direction and advice to the Garda Síochána in relation to summary cases and specific direction in such cases where requested.

Legal Research Internship Access Scheme: Background Information

The Legal Research Internship Access Scheme has been created to provide internship opportunities in the Law Reform Commission, the Office of the Attorney General or the Office of the Director of Public Prosecutions for current final year law students who come from socio-economically disadvantaged backgrounds or have disabilities.

The internships will provide successful applicants with paid work experience in a legal environment and the opportunity to develop skills and confidence as part of a research team.

The aim of the access internship is to increase diversity in the legal profession and to improve access to opportunities for students from underrepresented backgrounds. Through the access internship, we seek to promote greater diversity in the legal sector. We are mindful of the evidence of indirect barriers to entry to legal professions which are likely to impact on socio-economically disadvantaged groups in particular (Hook Tangaza (2018) Review of Legal Practitioner Education and Training).

Public bodies in Ireland have a responsibility to promote equality, prevent discrimination and protect the human rights of their employees, customers, service users and other affected by their policies and procedures. This is a statutory obligation known as the Public Sector Duty for Equality and Human Rights. The statutory duty is set out in Section 42 of the Irish Human Rights and Equality Commission Act 2014. While the Law Reform Commission, the Office of the Attorney General and the Office of the Director of Public Prosecutions are equal opportunities employers, we have created this access scheme to further promote equality.

Successful candidates will be placed on a panel in order of merit. Positions will be filled from the panel and successful candidates will be placed in one of the three participating organisations.

Role of a Legal Research Intern

The role of the Legal Research Intern will vary depending on which organisation they are placed in. Under the supervision of an assigned manager and mentor, the Legal Research Intern will:

- complete research tasks,
- assist with preparing or prepare memorandums, presentations, case notes, papers, reports, and notes of meetings, as the case may be,
- attend and participate at conferences and meetings, both internally and externally with stakeholders where required, and
- undertake such other duties as may from time to time be assigned by the Law Reform Commission, the Office of the Attorney General or the Office of the Director of Public Prosecutions.

Where the Legal Intern is placed with the Law Reform Commission, their contribution will be acknowledged when a Consultation Paper or Report on a relevant project is published.

Essential Requirements

Candidates must, on or before 31 March 2023:

- (a) Be in their final year of study towards an honours degree or an equivalent qualification (at least a Level 8 on the National Framework of Qualifications) in Law or a qualification, acceptable to the Law Reform Commission as equivalent, in which Law was taken as a major subject; and
- (b) Have accessed a Higher Education Institution through an Access Programme / Access Route as school leavers, or mature students. or
- (c) Be registered with, and receiving supports from, a Disability Support Service in a Higher Education Institution in Ireland.

In addition, candidates must possess and be able to demonstrate:

- A good knowledge of Irish law and the Irish Legal System (including EU Law) and knowledge of the ECHR system.
- Relevant undergraduate legal research experience.
- Ability to research and analyse.
- Good information technology skills.
